

Pure Functional Sublanguage

What are the characteristics of functional programming?
Consider that template metaprogramming is a pure functional language.